

LEAGUE DOING REAL SERVICE TO CURB WARS

ply to the 28 nations which are members. These include Japan, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Peru, Panama, Siam, Uruguay, Liberia and Guatemala—all of whom were in the war or signed the treaty of Versailles—and the states which were neutral, but have joined the league such as Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Venezuela, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

No Hasty Wars.

The meeting of the foregoing membership list can best be understood when it is considered that every one of those 28 nations, including for instance, Japan, is absolutely pledged not to make war without first allowing nine months for investigation or arbitration or the consideration of their disputes by the council or assembly of the League of Nations. None of these nations can now go to war with each other or with other powers on the spur of the moment without invoking the possible ill-will or even military force of all the other powers. The making of war is not prohibited after the nine months' period has elapsed nor would military intervention be considered during that period if both parties agreed to submit their case to inquiry or arbitration. But for all practical purposes the hands of 28 nations have been tied for a nine-month cooling off period.

Only 11 states have signed the treaty of Versailles but have not ratified it and so are not members of the league. These include the United States, Cuba, Ecuador, Greece, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Portugal, Rumania, Hedjaz and the new Jugo-Slav state.

China, abstained from signing the treaty of Versailles but will join the league by ratifying the Austrian treaty which contains the covenant of the league. Four other states—San Marino, Luxembourg, Georgia and Iceland, were not mentioned in the original covenant but have asked to be admitted to the league. Mexico has never been asked to join.

Concrete Things Done.
Concretely, the different meetings of the council have accomplished these things:

Jan. 15—Organized the council, and appointed the Saar Basin frontier commission.

Feb. 11—Admitted Switzerland, adopted rules of procedure for the council, appointed the Saar basin governing commission, accepted the obligation offered in the Polish treaty for the protection of minorities, approved plans for the organization of the permanent court of international justice, for the freedom of communication and transit, and for the international health office and summoned the international financial conference.

March 13—Approved plans for sending a league commission of inquiry to Russia, and took first steps for the prevention of typhus in Poland.

April 9—Answered request of supreme council that the league take a mandate in Armenia with the statement that it would assume general oversight for the time being.

The next meeting at Rome will follow the program already set forth in the beginning of this dispatch. The budget will be apportioned among the 28 members. The total cost of the league thus far is about $600,000 and the sum of $2,500,000 is required for next fiscal year. When divided by 28 this is an insignificant sum as government expenses go, and a relatively small sum to pay in an effort to keep the world at peace.

Remember when the first automobile came to town

TODAY there are more than 7,000,000 of them in the country. Pretty soon nearly everybody in this section will be traveling around in his own automobile.

The first thing a man wants to know nowadays, when he starts out to buy a car, is how much it is going to cost him to keep it running.

It's all very well to take some dealer's word about a tire—if you know who he is and his object in selling it to you.

Our object in selling U. S. Tires is to have you come back for more—and be glad that we sold them to you.

U. S. Tires have a record behind them.

They are built by the people who perfected the first straight side automobile tire, who produced the first pneumatic truck tire.

Two of the greatest contributions to tire and motor economy ever made.

As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world, we have a reputation to live up to. We can't afford to substitute "just as good" tires for tires of standard quality.

The Food Supply of the Future

AUTHORITIES agree that the food supply of the future depends upon the increased use of mechanical power on the farm. The tractor, motor truck, stationary gas engine, and the automobile, all dependent upon cheap, efficient motor fuel, have multiplied the efficiency of human labor, thereby increasing the acreage a man can handle.

In 1919 farmers owned 3,900,465 of the 7,523,664 automotive vehicles registered in the United States. These figures give a fair idea of the use being made of motor vehicles in producing and distributing food products.

There is no more prolific food producing area in the world than the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

To serve the farmers of the Middle West is a major part of the Standard Oil Company's business. For that reason the dark green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is recognized by the farmer as serving an indispensable need in promoting the increase of food products.

Thousands of these tank wagons travel continuously, on schedule, throughout the eleven states of the Middle West, served by this Company.

During the busy season, when the farmer needs power most, this Company delivers gasoline even to the tractors in the field. Rain or shine, these wagons are on duty to help make certain that the nation's food supply shall be planted, harvested and delivered on time.

To enable the farmer of modest means to utilize automotive machinery in cultivating an increased acreage at a lower cost per acre, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) strives constantly to keep down the price of gasoline by increasingly efficient refining methods, and to expand and perfect its comprehensive system of distribution.
